We Remember

Memorial Day: Time to remember those of valorThe tradition of honoring our country's fallen defenders began as a springtime custom following the Civil War. Originally, called Decoration Day, it was a time to remember those whose valor knew no bounds. To the list of those who died at Gettysburg and Bull Run, we have added names from San Juan Hill, Verdun, Corregidor, Inchon, Khe Sanh, Vietnam, the deserts of the Middle East, and a thousand other places touched by war. For most of the year, these brave souls lie in anonymity, but on Memorial Day we bring them back to life with our thanks for their great sacrifice. It is not really a time of sadness. Rather it should be an affirmation that these men and women did not lose their lives in vain. This special day is a time of tribute to those who fell and to a country that plunged onward in pursuit of justice and democracy. We mourn our dead, but we rejoice in their memory and in the democracy they defended.

Thank You For The Kind Words

Having taken cars to dealerships my entire life, DuFresne's was a pleasant departure from the factory-like upselling of services. When a mechanic takes the time to talk to you rather than playing a telephone game with sales reps, it makes the automotive retail experience a little more palatable. I'll be taking more vehicles there moving forward. Adam Staley Fast, friendly, straightforward.

We had a car trip planned and they worked to make sure the repairs were made before we had to hit the road. Appreciate them prioritizing it. Everything went smoothly. 13deeter Wonderful service! Thorough and professional. They let me know everything my car needed and when it needed to be done, but absolutely no pressure. They had a great, free loaner for me, too. Highly recommend them!!! Becky Ellison DuFresne's is a great place with friendly people and professional, knowledgeable staff. I absolutely love the job they did on my car. I would recommend them to anybody!! DeAnna Howe Great mechanics. Not cheap. But they are super competent. Judi Douglas So glad I came across this shop. Staff was friendly and organized. Vehicle was serviced just as asked. Highly recommend servicing your vehicle here.

Mother's Day, May 9th: Honoring mothers

The world has turned many times since 1907. That was the year Anna Jarvis asked her Philadelphia church to hold services in memory of all mothers on the anniversary of her mother's death.

It was a time before the marvels of electricity and indoor plumbing. Mothers had a life of hard physical work.

Today, more than 113 years later, the role of mothers is somewhat different. Although we may not think so on laundry day, much of the drudgery of housekeeping is gone. Today moms have homes, kids, and careers.

To our own mothers, we say "Thank you!" and truly mean it. Without them, our lives would be difficult indeed. Their skills and their dedication are appreciated.

On Mother's Day, let us hope all mothers may rear their children in peaceful times. We remember mothers who lost loved ones on the battlefield.

We hope for strength for single mothers.

We honor mothers who are no longer with us, and ask God's blessing for mothers who are terminally ill.

We pray for future mothers that they may have high character and fortitude in this changing world.

And finally, we remember those moms who were the victims of the coronavirus that so damaged our people and country in 2020.

How to solve sudoku puzzles

No math is required to solve a sudoku. You only need logic and patience.

Simply make sure that each 3x3 square region has only one instance of the numbers 1-9. Similarly, each number can only appear once in a column or row in the larger grid. The difficulty on this puzzle is easy.

Get some social distance with a bike ride

It's commuting and fitness melded together: Faster than walking and as much exercise as jogging. It lets you enjoy the scenery, which, depending on your time in quarantine, could mean a lot. If you aren't already a regular rider, you'll want to ease yourself into cycling. Begin with half-hour rides every other day or three days a week. And practice your basic skills in an empty parking lot. Learn to shift gears without wobbling and to look over your left shoulder while steering straight ahead. When you take to the roads, always ride with traffic, ride in the street on the right. Use hand signals, and obey all the traffic rules. Buying a bike. If you decide that you like riding, you may want to get a new bike. Be sure to shop for one that suits your normal riding distance. Traditional 3-speeds are good for short rides, and 10-speeds are best for longer rides. Then there are all-terrain bikes that provide an all-purpose alternative. When riding to work, put your belongings in a backpack or tie them down in a basket or rear carrier. Carry a tool kit to fix flat tires. You're never too old to take up cycling and benefit from it for the rest of your life. Studies at the University of California at Davis compared three forms of exercise: Jogging, bicycling and tennis. Middle-aged sedentary men were assigned to one of the three activities for 30 minutes a day three times a week. After 20 weeks, the joggers and cyclists had an equal improvement in endurance, and both groups lost a substantial amount of body fat. When riding after dark, make sure you have lights on the bike, reflective tape on your helmet, and wear light-colored clothing.
